

Dual Admission Program

LAW

Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) or Bachelor of Science (B.S.) and Juris Doctor (J.D.)

NSU offers a dual admission program to students who are interested in pursuing a challenging career in the legal profession or related fields in government or business. This unique program leads to the bachelor's and juris doctor (J.D.) degrees. After students successfully complete the undergraduate degree program requirements, they will then enter the graduate degree program. Eligible students may also qualify to complete an accelerated "3+3" program by meeting rigorous entry criteria.

The law school dual admission program is available to students in all undergraduate majors. Students may want to consider the legal studies major, designed to assist students in developing analytical and communication skills and an understanding of economic, political, and social contexts within which legal issues arise. The legal studies major is excellent preparation for the Law School Admission Test (LSAT) and for law school.

NSU Shepard Broad Law Center

The Shepard Broad Law Center is well known for its supportive and innovative approach to legal education. Students are exposed to a cutting-edge curriculum, providing a firm grounding in lawyering skills and values in addition to a solid, substantive education in traditional legal subjects. Students are guaranteed clinical experiences that provide valuable real-world training and a dynamic resume. The Law Center's state-of-the-art facility houses classrooms, tiered lecture halls, two courtrooms, the Law Center's clinics, and a spacious law library. In addition, the Law Center has the finest wireless technology system in operation in an academic setting, allowing students to connect to the world from any place in the building, or from any telephone.
